

Press Release

Want to be first past the post when it comes to retraining racehorses?

TOP event rider Karen Dixon is well known for her great partnership with such famous horses as Get Smart and Too Smart, but she's also built a great reputation when it comes to retraining ex-racehorses for other disciplines.

Karen will be providing top class advice on the retraining of racehorses during her educational and informative demonstrations at Your Horse Live, the unmissable two day event.

Your Horse Live 2010 takes place on November 13 and 14 at Stoneleigh Park, Warwickshire and should be at the top of every horse owner and rider's 'must visit' list. Book tickets in advance and get 20% off the gate price.

Karen will work with riders on ex-racehorses, looking at the steps to take when they first come off the track, through to working them on the flat and developing their jumping technique with the help of pole work.

Looking at all stages of an ex-racer's training, Karen's down to earth approach is sure to prove as enlightening and thought provoking as usual.

The demonstrations are ideal for people who have bought, or are considering buying, an ex-racehorse and want to learn more about introducing them to 'ordinary' life.
